

How to register your defibrillator on The Circuit

It's quick and easy to register, you just need to follow these simple steps:

1. Visit www.thecircuit.uk
2. Create an account on The Circuit
3. Register your defibrillator by inputting its postcode to find it (it's already been pre-loaded to the new system)
4. Once you've found it, you can claim it as yours, fill in a few more details about it and then it will be fully registered and added to your account

When claiming your defibrillator on The Circuit it's useful to have to hand the following details if possible:

- its location and surroundings
- brand, model and serial number (usually on the front of your defibrillator)
- times when it's accessible
- pads expiry dates
- confirm it is displaying its ready signal
- access code (if applicable)

Important: your defibrillator is already loaded onto The Circuit. Please claim it rather than adding a new one.

What is The Circuit – the national defibrillator database?

The British Heart Foundation have developed a national database of defibrillators called 'The Circuit - the national defibrillator network' which maps 'publicly accessible' and 'restricted access' defibrillators across the UK.

In a world first, the BHF are working closely with all 14 Ambulance Services to ensure this will help to save lives right across the UK. The Circuit is designed to allow it to connect to the computer aided dispatch (CAD) system within each of the Ambulance Services to allow sight of the nearest defibrillator for dispatch in an emergency.

The Circuit will help to increase the chances of survival from out-of-hospital cardiac arrest by becoming the single central source of intelligence on defibrillators for all UK ambulance services, dramatically improving visibility and access to these potentially life-saving devices.

Why is it important to register my defibrillator?

Sadly, only 1 in 10 people in the UK survive an out-of-hospital cardiac arrest which is why quick access to defibrillators is more important than ever. A few minutes of your time now could save precious minutes in an emergency, helping 999 callers to locate your defibrillator quickly and help save lives.

That's why we're asking you to connect your defibrillator to The Circuit today. By registering your defibrillator on The Circuit – the national defibrillator database, you will help to save more lives.

Thank you
